

NEW ZEALAND BAREFOOT HISTORY

Peter Benseman of Howick, Auckland is considered as the first kiwi to step off and ski barefoot in 1959.

During the Sixties, Vaughan Bullivant was one of New Zealand crack water-skiers, National and Region III champion. He also became a superb barefooter, performing at Cypress Gardens shows.

Barefooting in New Zealand really started in 1972, when some forward thinking people contacted Harry & Marg Byron from Australia and got them to come to New Zealand and teach them all about it...

The New Zealand barefoot club was set up in 1973 on the same lines as the Australian Barefoot Club, and got a committee based in Wellington. They were Gil Beadle, Jenny Young, Barrie Randerson and Brian Carroll. This same year, Australia invites a NZ team to hold the first Region III championships in Nagambie. This first NZ team was composed by Brian Carroll, Richard Faisandier and Barrie Randerson.

John Guthrie

The first national championships were held during 1974 and two years later, New Zealand invites Australia in Taupo for the second Region III championships. John Guthrie took the gold in mens jump and Jan Morgans won the women slalom event for the first international titles.

John Guthrie and Jan Morgans took part to the first World championships in Canberra with a strong NZ team. Both were bronze medallist respectively in jump and tricks, as New Zealand finished second in the team event, behind the Aussies.

The next medal in a World event came with Shelley May, who finished at the third place in the first women jump competition held at Kelheim, Germany in 1986.

The first gold medal at a World Championships came with Jason Mc Arthur, winning slalom, tricks and overall, during the first World junior championships in 1995.

In the beginning of year 2002, Otaki Forest Lakes hosted the first World competition in New Zealand, with combined junior and senior Worlds, where Fred Groen won the gold in jump.

During 2003 junior Worlds, Stephanie Hamblyn won also the jump event, as well as Fred Groen anew in 2005 senior World Championships. Lake Inspiration in Otaki hosted the combined 2009 Worlds championships, with bronze medal in open women jump for Kelly O'Donnell and silver in junior boys jump for Ben Groen.

At 2010 Worlds Championships in Brandebourg, Bevan Kelly took jump and overall titles in senior division, whilst Georgia Groen won the gold medal in junior tricks. In 2012, she won the 4 events at the junior level, and finished at the first place in open women tricks, winning the first ever open gold medal for New Zealand.

2016 was a golden year for kiwis, as Bevan Kelly won senior overall and Georgia Groen open women overall.

Georgia Groen grab a new gold medal in the jump event of the 2018 & 2023 Worlds championships, and Ben Groen won tricks event during 2023 Worlds, before being crowned overall open World Champion at 2024 Worlds championships in Auburndale, Florida.

Many thanks to Trish Carroll for her help concerning the beginning of this story and to Robbie Groen.
